City of Lingering Splendour: A Frank Account of Old Peking's Exotic Pleasures

By John Blofeld

Shambhala Publications. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 280 pages. Dimensions: 8.3in. x 5.5in. x 0.7in. In his early twenties, John Blofeld spent what he describes as three exquisitely happy years in Peking during the era of the last emperor, when the breathtaking greatness of China's ancient traditions was still everywhere evident. Arriving in 1934, he found a city imbued with the atmosphere of the recent imperial past and haunted by the powerful spirit of the late Dowager Empress Tzu Hsi. He entered a world of magnificent palaces and temples of the Forbidden City, of lotus-covered lakes and lush pleasure-gardens, of bustling bazaars and peaceful bathhouses, and of flower houses with their beautiful young courtesans versed in the arts of pleasing men. With a novelist's command of detail and dialogue, Blofeld vividly recreates the magic of these years and conveys to the reader his appreciation and nostalgia for a way of life long vanished. Reviews

Extensive information for book fans. It is written in basic words and never hard to understand. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

This publication is great. It is full of wisdom and knowledge. You will not really feel monotony at any time of the time (that's what catalogs are for relating to when you ask me).
